

Deepening

ADVANCED TRAINING FOR COACHES

Ontology and Language as the Primary Currency of Leadership

JUNE 11–12, 2015

Human beings are storytellers. In these two days we will dive into how our stories get formed, how they shape our lives and how they inform our relationships. We will explore how our clients are being run by old, outdated stories that no longer serve where they say they are going. Finally, we examine how to use language to shape powerful stories that will help leaders craft incredible futures and harness conversations for powerful teaming and incredible results.

You will leave the session with:

1. The basic building blocks of all conversations.
2. An understanding of Ontology (a word from philosophy meaning the art and science of being);
3. A clarity about language as action and creation not simply as description;
4. An understanding of the limitations of a Cartesian understanding of language and the possibilities available with post-modern cutting edge understanding of language as part of how we co-create with the world; and
5. New ideas about how to have your clients become masterful with language and conversation—the primary currency of all leaders.

Be ready to use yourself and your habits as an access to your learning.

Location: The Warren Conference center in Ashland, MA

Tuition: See web site for tuition details.

Program Facilitators:

Jen Cohen
jen@sevenstonesleadership.com
978.314.0718

Julie Engel
julie@julieengel.net
617.869.9638

SEVEN STONES
LEADERSHIP

JULIE ENGEL & COMPANY

“Under duress we do not rise to our own expectations, we fall to the level of our training.”

– Bruce Lee