Legacy Creation: Writing Exercise

If your friends and family were talking about you when you turned one hundred, what do you hope they'd say about your life and legacy?

Ten-year Visioning

1. Where do you see yourself and your organization in ten years? Write as if you are in that year, reporting your life to a friend, family or colleague. Write in prose or bullets. One page is enough. Use this worksheet or your own journal or notebook.

2. Make a visual representation of yourself and your organization ten years from now. Make a collage from magazines, newspapers and/or Google images. You can make the collage virtually in PowerPoint or as a paper collage. Click on this link for further instructions.
3. When you look at what you wrote and visually created, notice what it evokes in you. What are the values that seem to be driving you? Do these values align with your legacy work from the previous page? If so, how? If not, what is missing? This can be an inquiry or another opportunity to write. Please create your values that arose from this work as a list.
